

Consulate Closed As Staff Protests Mindszenty Verdict

(By The Associated Press)
A "closed" sign hung today on the door of the Hungarian consulate in New York—a silent symbol of the wave of angry reaction stirred by the conviction of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty.

Hungarian consular staffs in two other cities also were split by resignations that came as public officials and churchmen throughout the western world protested the life prison sentence imposed on the Cardinal on treason and other charges.

Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, today termed the sentence "more merciful" than death and called on Americans to vitalize their tests by removing "every Communist cell from within our own government."

Denounced In Parliament
In Congress, demands were raised that the U. S. sever diplomatic relations with Hungary, and that the United Nations be asked to intervene in the Mindszenty case.

In Canberra, Australia, President of the United Nations General Assembly Herbert V. Evatt said the matter may come before the April U. N. meeting in New York.

Lawmakers in the parliaments of Great Britain, The Netherlands and France also strongly denounced the action of the Hungarian people's tribunal.

Heading the list of nine Hungarian officials in this country who quit their posts yesterday in protest was Bela Balassa, acting consul general in New York and a Hungarian diplomat for 22 years.

He said he reached his decision because present events in his homeland "overstepped the bounds of human morals and God-like decency."

Four members of his staff resigned with him.

In Cleveland, two clerks quit their jobs in the Hungarian consulate office. Two officials of the Hungarian legation in Washington also resigned.

The "voice of America" radio relayed news of the resignations to Hungary.

Port Huron Seaman First Man Lost In Battle of Kodiak

Kodiak, Alaska, Feb. 9 (AP)—The first fatality in the battle of Kodiak was reported by Navy officials last night.

He was Seaman Edward Lewis Genaw, son of Mrs. Gertrude Louis Genaw, Port Huron, Mich. Genaw fell into near-freezing waters from the cruiser Duluth during refueling operations off Kodiak Island. The Duluth is taking part in the Navy's cold weather exercise.

Navy officials said a 45-knot wind made it impossible to launch a rescue boat, but a helicopter skimmed near the top of the 25-foot waves to drop a lifeline. Number by the cold waters, however, Genaw was unable to fasten the harness.

BABY'S DEATH STUDIED

Battle Creek (AP)—The prosecutor's office is studying the report of a coroner's jury that three-week-old James Lee Rasmussen met his death last Wednesday by being dropped to the floor. The father, Arthur Rasmussen, 20, testified the boy slipped from his arms while he was changing the diapers. The prosecutor said he would study the report for possible criminal action.

GARTERS CAUSE WRECK

JACKSON (AP)—Motorist William T. Hahn is recovering from chest and back injuries he received because two women stopped to fix their garters. Hahn stopped his car suddenly to avoid hitting the women who were standing in the middle of the street, and his car was struck from behind by a truck.

PROUD OF DER TAG—Christopher Janus will cause some raised eyebrows with this license plate, with the letters H-I-T-L-E-R on it. Janus, a Chicago importer, owns Adolf Hitler's five-ton armored Mercedes-Benz limousine, and decided he should have a distinctive tag to go with it.

Hungarian Cardinal Not Likely To Hang

By ENDRE MARTON

Budapest, Hungary, Feb. 9 (AP)—The comment of a foreign office spokesman made it seem unlikely today that the life sentence of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty will be increased to death by the appeals court.

The Cardinal was found guilty by the people's court yesterday of treason, plotting to overthrow the Communist government and speculating in dollars on the black market. His six co-defendants also were found guilty on various related charges and all but one appealed.

The prosecutor also expressed

Democrats Support Women Bartenders

State Solons May Erase
Ban In Big Cities

Lansing, Feb. 9 (AP)—Democratic state representatives massed forces today to eliminate the ban on women bartenders in larger Michigan cities.

The offensive developed unexpectedly yesterday when the Democrats seized on a minor measure for the purpose.

The measure proposed to change the expiration date of bartenders' licenses from April 30 to June 30. Rep. N. D. Edward (D-Detroit), one of two women representatives, offered an amendment to junk the limitation of licenses in cities of over 50,000 to men or the wives and daughters of men owners.

Miss Edwards, however, began to bog down in House rules which require such amendments to be written. Rep. Tracy M. Doll (D-Detroit) came to her rescue with a motion to defer the measure until today. The motion passed.

"I can't see," Miss Edwards said, "Why women should be 'protected' when there is a bar between them and the customers, and any more than waitresses should be 'protected'."

"The trouble with whiskey," commented Rep. Louis C. Cramton (R-Lapeer), "is the alcohol in it, not the sex of the one who hands it to you."

Planes Bring Dogs To Help Sheppmen

Salt Lake City, Feb. 9 (AP)—Now it's the dogfight.

E. Woodrow Walton, clerk of the State Aeronautics commission, said today shepherders in eastern Utah are in desperate need of sheepsdogs.

So the civil air patrol plans to parachute dogs to marooned flocks. The State Aeronautics commission has provided the parachutes.

Sheepsdogs are needed to keep flocks in control and warn against predators. Land delivery of the animals is impossible because of snow-blocked roads. Many of the dogs recently have been poisoned by coyote bait.

New York Central Lays Off 8100 Men

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—The New York Central railroad is laying off for indefinite periods some 8,100 car and locomotive repair workers and maintenance of way employees.

A railroad spokesman said the action was necessary because the line's business was down about 10 per cent compared with a year ago. He said they would be recalled "as fast as business permits."

Williams Has Hopes For Solution Of Soo Fort Brady Problem

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—Michigan's Governor G. Mennen Williams today has hopes for a solution of the Fort Brady problem.

He took back to Michigan with him the promise of Assistant Secretary of the Army Gray that Michigan's problem would get special consideration.

Williams, on his first capitol visit for official purposes since his election, conferred yesterday with government men over the Fort Brady issue and the Michigan hospital problem in general. He also discussed unemployment appropriations for Michigan.

He left last night to return to Lansing expressing hopes of success.

"I can't conceive of any emergency short of war which would lead us to give it (Fort Brady) up," the governor said.

College Won't Leave

The Army, after once deeding the Fort buildings to the state, now is considering taking them back in the reactivation of the Soo Lock defenses.

Williams joined with Sen. Ferguson and Rep. Potter and a Lansing delegation to confer with Assistant Secretary Gray.

Gray issued a statement later saying he would do everything possible to build permanent defense installations at Sault Ste. Marie.

This, however, he said, would have to be done "within the framework of budget limitations."

He said the Army would give its special consideration to Michigan's "critical need" to house mental patients in the Fort Brady hospital.

The junior branch of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology occupies the main buildings of Fort Brady. President Dillman of the college said there was no basis for fears the college would close the branch.

London Trams With Number 68 Shot At By Ghostly Sniper

London, Feb. 9 (AP)—A ghostly sniper with a grudge against street cars numbered 68 made a woman's land of the Waterloo Station-Greenwich route today.

In the past two nights the unseen gunman has put bullets through the windows of eight trams bearing number 68.

Trams numbered 36, 38, 70 and 74, have gone unscathed.

One passenger on a No. 68 car was cut by glass. Slugs narrowly missed several others.

Police cars shadowed the marked trams back and forth along their route last night. The mystery man put bullets into two of them just the same.

Draft Delinquents Get Quick Induction

Lansing, Feb. 9 (AP)—Local draft boards, under orders to stop inducting men into the armed forces, were told today to continue the inductions of any men delinquent under the selective service laws.

Men who become delinquent under the law for any reason may be ordered for immediate induction, the state selective service headquarters said.

The headquarters announced also that previous orders to stop the classification of men into 1-A and 1-AO have been rescinded.

Blandly interrupting while being sentenced to four to five years, Mc Hale protested it was a year too much and that he "ought to know." He'd had the same sentence before.

Recorder's Judge Christopher E. Stein, on the bench for 49 years, looked up the law, and agreed. Mc Hale, guilty of larceny from a store, got three to four years.

Russia Wants Count Of U. S. Atom Bombs

Lake Success, Feb. 9 (AP)—Russia demanded yesterday that the United States tell the United Nations by March 31 how many atomic bombs the U. S. has.

The Soviet Union in a 900-word resolution put before the U. N. Security Council also lashed at the proposed North Atlantic pact.

Warren R. Austin, U. S. delegate, called the Soviet resolution a "sneak attack" on the arms limitation situation. He said it was made up of all the "beans and different constituents" which Russia has put up to the U. N. on the arms and atomic questions since the U. N. was formed.

Jakob A. Malik, Soviet deputy foreign minister, introduced two projects put up by Russia at the Paris general assembly and defeated by large majorities there.

One demanded a one-third cut in the armaments of the five great powers—China, France, Britain, United States and Russia.

The other was a demand for simultaneous treaties banning the atomic bomb and calling for world controls on atomic energy.

The resolution ended with a demand from the big five to supply not later than March 31 "complete data concerning their armed forces and all types of armaments, including atomic weapons."

Drifts Stall Trains Again In Far West

Ten Families Rescued
From Buried Homes

By The Associated Press

Huge drifts of freshly-driven snow reblocked highways and rail lines over thousands of miles in the storm-stricken western states today. More than 5,000 travelers on some 40 trains were stranded as crews worked against adverse weather conditions to move the stalled trains.

The new snow and wind storms this week in the Wyoming-Utah-Idaho area cost the lives of at least five persons. Ten families were rescued from threatened suffocation in their snow-covered houses at Rawlins, Wyo.

Westerly winds reaching a velocity of nearly 40 miles an hour whipped over sections of the blizzard belt today. Stockmen expressed fear of further losses to livestock from the latest in the series of storms which have lashed the western plains and Rocky Mountain region for nearly six weeks.

Thirty-six passenger and one army train were stalled between Omaha and Denver. Last night some of the mail trains in the Wyoming snowbound area were rerouted.

Cold Wave Eased
The strong winds blew across the snow-carpeted areas of Wyoming, Idaho and parts of Utah and moved eastward into Nebraska, Montana and the Dakotas today.

The U. S. weather bureau said winds may diminish during the day in the Rocky Mountain region but "only temporarily."

Most of the blizzard-swept disaster area, however, got one break in the weather—temperatures were not severe. But a below zero belt covered most sections of the North Central States. The mercury was expected to be above freezing in Nebraska and the Dakotas and the Rocky Mountain area.

In Wyoming drifting snow reblocked more than 2,300 miles of roads which had been opened by army crews. Airplanes flew supplies of milk and bakery goods to Rawlins and Rock Springs, Wyo., to meet emergency needs of stranded rail passengers.

Further livestock losses can be expected before spring in Wyoming, the state agriculture society said. It also said feed has reached "critically low levels in many parts of the state" because of the snow-blocked roads. The count placed livestock losses at present from 10,000 to 20,000 cattle and from 30,000 to 50,000 sheep.

Valentines Pile Up, Short On Postage

Battle Creek, Mich., Feb. 9 (AP)—Love is just a worrisome thing to Postmaster Frank Haver.

Valentines are piling up in the post office because of insufficient postage.

Since Jan. 1, it has cost two cents to mail an unsealed printed card instead of one and a half cents.

Moreover, the love notes can't be returned. Asked Haver: "Who ever heard of a return address on a valentine?"

RESORT CHANGES HANDS

Bozoyne City (AP)—Purchase of the 50-room Dilworth hotel here by Mr. and Mrs. George T. Zipp of Bay View, Mich., for an undisclosed sum was announced Tuesday. The widely known summer resort was the property of H. C. Marshall. The Zipp's own the Terrace Inn at Bay View near Petoskey.

Lansing, Feb. 9 (AP)—Governor Williams today hastily reversed his decision to drop two Republicans, State Treasurer D. Hale Brake and Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, Jr., from the Michigan Commission for interstate cooperation.

Yesterday it was disclosed that Williams had replaced the two GOP stalwarts with three Democrats: Lawrence J. Farrell, his executive secretary, State Revenue Commissioner Louis M. Nims and State Banking Commissioner Maurice C. Eveland.

The Republicans were angry and wisecracked about the difference between Williams' actions and his public pleas for a bipartisan administration.

Today Brake and Alger said that Farrell called them and told them it was all a misunderstanding and that the Democratic appointments were being cancelled to restore the Republicans to their positions.

TRUCKER FOUND DEAD
South Haven (AP)—Van Buren county authorities today ordered an inquest into the death of William Kuhlman, 45, whose body was found early Tuesday in the cab of his truck, parked on US-31 five miles north of here. State police said Kuhlman apparently was a victim of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Dewey Gives Kind Of Talk He Didn't Give In Campaign

By JACK BELL

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey last night advised Republicans to become the party of "social progress."

The hard-hitting speech which Dewey himself described as "the kind I ought to have made in the campaign" was interpreted by Senator Brewster of Maine as "slamming the door against another nomination."

Reluctantly draping himself in the robes of elder statesman, the New York governor told the country from a Lincoln Day dinner forum last night that his Truman-defeated party is split wide open.

On one side, he said to the tune of 22 outbursts of applause, are those who want no "paternalism" in government—who would junk farm price supports, unemployment insurance, old age benefits, slum clearance and other programs.

Banquet Room Packed
On the other, he said as he paused to survey a packed banquet room, are those Republicans who want to go beyond the New Deal "as rapidly as possible at almost any cost and regardless of consequences."

Car Search In Menominee
Arrest Ruled Illegal

Menominee, Mich., Feb. 9 (AP)—A circuit judge held yesterday an officer must have "more than mere suspicions" to search an automobile for evidence of law violation.

Circuit Judge Glenn W. Jackson gave the decision in upholding the appeal of Adolph Bisnette, Menominee, from a conviction and $25 fine in justice court on a charge of illegal possession of a gun in a game area.

Bisnette was named in a warrant last September after conservation wardens stopped his car and confiscated a shotgun. The officers testified they heard two shots and suspected that Bisnette fired them. Under Michigan law it is unlawful to possess a gun within a game area for 15 days preceding the opening of the hunting season.

Bisnette denied he fired the gun and said he was enroute to his hunting camp.

Judge Jackson ruled the seizure of the Bisnette gun was illegal. He said that a conservation or any law enforcement officer must have "reasonable cause" to suspect a law violation and held that in the Bisnette case the search and seizure was based on suspicion.

Measure Falls Far Short Of Standards, Says U.S. Chamber

Taft-Hartley Law Repeal
Hearings In Jam

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—A two-weeks extension of hearings on the administration labor bill was approved today by the Senate labor committee. The deadline was moved from Feb. 10 to Feb. 23.

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—The United States Chamber of Commerce today called the administration's labor bill "completely inadequate." It said the bill "fails to meet standards of fairness."

The chamber's attack on the bill came as the Democratic-controlled Senate labor committee made ready for a showdown on a Republican proposal to extend public hearings two weeks beyond tomorrow evening, the present hotly-disputed deadline.

A subcommittee of two Democrats and one Republican tried last night to solve the problem of how to hear some 30 more witnesses today and tomorrow. Senator Morse (R-Ore.), who proposed the two-week extension on behalf of his GOP colleagues, reported a "complete stalemate."

The issue was tossed to the full committee for a decision at a meeting behind closed doors today.

Denham Recalled
After that, the committee was to resume public hearings with Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the National Labor Relations board, slated to go back to the stand.

Denham was supposed to have testified last Saturday. He wasn't called until Monday and still was being questioned when the full committee quit last night. That is an indication of how far behind schedule the group is.

The administration's bill would repeal the Taft-Hartley act and replace it with a modified Wagner act.

In a statement prepared for the committee, Vice President Herman W. Steinhaus of the Chamber of Commerce urged that the basic provisions of the Taft-Hartley measure be retained. Regarding the administration bill, he said:

"We think (it) is completely inadequate to the basic purpose of any national labor code equality before the law.

"It seeks to restrict employers in their conduct of employee relations in every way that was devised by the Wagner act, while leaving the unions largely free to perpetrate many abusive practices that should be regulated."

"We think (the bill) fails to meet the standards of fairness."

St. Clair Dairy Bar Holdup Victim Dies

Veteran And Girl Friend
Held In Shooting

Jackson, Mich., Feb. 9 (AP)—A young Navy veteran admitted a holdup-slaying today, police claimed, after he was betrayed by his blonde girl friend.

The victim, 63-year-old Mrs. Lillian Boyer, was fatally wounded Monday night in the Fair Haven, Michigan, dairy bar operated by her husband. She died last night in a Mt. Clemens hospital.

Police here arrested Robert L. Barry, 21, of Pittsford, and said he fired the fatal shot in a vain holdup attempt.

A few hours earlier, 21-year-old Shirley Heath of St. Clair, a slightly built, tomboyish girl, implicated Barry in the slaying. She was held at St. Clair for further questioning.

Miss Heath was quoted by officers as saying "I begged him not to go in" to the dairy bar before the fatal holdup attempt.

She said she had known Barry since 1944 when they were both patients at the University hospital in Ann Arbor.

The girl was arrested after a neighbor reported hearing her mention the shooting during an argument with another girl with whom she rooms.

Veteran Renounces
U. S. Citizenship To Marry Vienna Girl

Vienna, Austria, Feb. 9 (AP)—A young American war veteran has renounced his American citizenship to stay in Austria and marry his Viennese sweetheart.

He is Harold W. J. Brandt of Chicago now serving a 90-day sentence in the Salzburg army stockade following his conviction in a military government court on charges of cigarette smuggling.

At the completion of his sentence March 30 he was scheduled to be returned to the United States. Yesterday in a five minute ceremony in the office of the American vice-consul at Salzburg he renounced his citizenship. Army officials said it is "quite likely" Brandt will be released here when his prison term has been served.

NOTED RACER AT HANCOCK

Australian Shifts From Autos To Planes

Hancock, Mich.—A. E. Poole, famed Australian automobile racer, now president of the Fort Williams Industrial Grain Products, the largest wheat starch manufacturing plant on the North American continent, arrived at the Houghton County Memorial Airport Saturday afternoon and with Mrs. Poole are guests at the Hotel Scott.

Mr. Poole, a contact flyer, arrived with Mrs. Poole, his navigator, at Memorial airport at 3:30 Saturday afternoon in their twin engine Cessna plane from Fort William, Ontario, Ont.

Mr. Poole is grounded at the airport awaiting favorable weather to continue his flight to London, where Industrial Grain Products has two large plants where wheat starch is processed for eastern markets.

Mr. Poole for six consecutive years held the title of Australia's national champion automobile racer. He drove racing cars for 19 years in every country of the world, including the United States, and was seriously injured in 1938 during a race in England. He was then forced to give up racing and came to Canada and the United States to look for a job. He designed and built racers in Australia and at one time was products manager for the Ford Motor Co. in Sydney. He was born in Australia.

In 1940, Mr. Poole started in the starch manufacturing business and after a few years developed a process for manufacturing starch from wheat.

Unable longer to drive racing automobiles Mr. Poole, as he states, "had to get a thrill out of something," and a year ago, at the age of 42, took up flying. Mrs. Poole has made a study of navigation and is her husband's navigator on flight trips.

DEATH CLAIMS C. E. BARTLEY

Heart Attack Fatal To Hotel Proprietor

Cornelius (Neil) Bartley, 58, member of a prominently known Escanaba family, and proprietor of the Michigan hotel, died at 5 o'clock this morning at the family home, his death caused by a heart attack.

Mr. Bartley was born in Escanaba January 10, 1891, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Casper Bartley, and he was a life long resident of Escanaba. He was graduated from Escanaba high school in 1910. He served in Russia with the 310th Engineers during World War I and he was a member of Cloverland Post, 82, American Legion.

Surviving are his wife and the following children: Mrs. Bernard (Dorothy) St. Onge, Marinette; Neil, Jr., Escanaba; Mrs. John F. (Irene) Greis, Escanaba; Betty Lou, Casper and George, at home; and Mrs. Roy B. Johnson, Escanaba; two grandchildren, Caryl Johnson and Thomas Edmond Bartley; and one sister, Mrs. Edward Hendricks of Escanaba.

The body will be in state at the Alto funeral home Friday afternoon and services will be held Saturday morning.

Benefit Payments Increase In Area

Benefit payments made on UC industrial claims and GI claims increased during the seven day week ending Feb. 3, according to Whitney R. Dixon, manager of the local office of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation commission. During this period of time, a total of $24,309 was paid out to benefit claimants. This figure was made up of $16,121 in industrial claims and $8,188 in GI claims.

The local office, which services in addition to Escanaba proper, Gladstone, Rapid River, Rock and Manistique, showed that Gladstone had the largest unemployment roll per capita. Of the 1442 claims filed during the week above, the Gladstone point contributed 363 claims during the past week. Benefit payments made in Gladstone on Tuesday were for a total of $7,801 of which $6,801 were industrial claims and the balance, GI claims. Of the itinerant points, Manistique shows the next highest level of unemployment where during the past week, 213 claims were filed and a total of $3750 was paid out on these claims. The proportion of industrial claims in Manistique, however, is smaller than the GI, as there were filed in Manistique only 92 industrial claims and 139 GI claims.

"Although it is possible that further increases can be expected, they should not be of any great volume," Mr. Dixon stated. "The total of 1442 claims should approximate the peak load that we expect during January, February and March. The high point in claims filing was during the 7-day week ending January 28, when a total of 1604 claims were filed at Escanaba and its itinerant points. During this particular week, $8,555 was paid out in Gladstone on the one day of itinerant service to that point."

Field Training in Health Begun Here

Miss Lucille Savage of Cooks this week began a four months period of field experience with the Delta-Menominee District Health Department. This will complete Miss Savage's requirements for a Bachelor of Science degree in public health nursing and she will graduate from the University of Michigan in June 1949.

Miss Savage received her nursing training at St. Luke's hospital Marquette. She has had experience in hospital nursing as well as in army service. While she is with the health department she will observe the work of the various members of the staff as well as participating in the program herself.

License Bureau Open Extra Hours

With fourteen days remaining before the deadline for 1949 license plates, the license bureau in Escanaba will remain open from 7 to 9 p. m. Friday for the convenience of those who are working and are unable to purchase plates during regular hours, William Ranguette, manager, announced today. Due to the rush the office also will be open all day Saturday, Lincoln's birthday. Purchasers are reminded that they must have their titles when applying for plates.

Mrs. M. Johnson Resident Here Many Years Dies In Sweden

Gladstone — Mrs. Mathilda Johnson, 85, resident of Gladstone for many years and widely known in the community, died Monday in Svanskog, Varmland, Sweden, members of the family have been advised.

Mrs. Johnson first came to Gladstone in 1898 and lived here at 508 Delta avenue until 1939 when she returned to Sweden. She had been living there at the home of a nephew.

She was born January 12, 1864 in Svanskog.

Surviving are five children: Mrs. Adolph Johnson, Gladstone; Mrs. O. G. Elmen, Chicago; Mrs. Carl J. Anderson, Gladstone; Arthur Johnson, Chicago; and Carroll Johnson, Gladstone; eight grandchildren and three great grandchildren; and one sister, who lives in Sweden.

Duke Gets His Tractor

Duke Thomas bought a farm with the money he'd saved in the Service, but he couldn't get a tractor. He needed it badly, but was tenth on the local dealer's list.

"Tell you what," old man Peters says, "If those nine fellows ahead of you agree, you'll get the next one I get in." "No, thanks," says Duke, "I'll just take my turn."

But old Peters mails out nine postcards. And the other day he tells Duke his tractor will be in next week. "I simply wrote the facts to the fellows ahead of you. They decided it."

From where I sit, it's that spirit of understanding that helps make our democracy so great. Understanding for the other fellow's problems and respect for the other fellow's rights—whether it's his right to earn a living, his right to cast his vote against your candidate, or even his right to enjoy a moderate, friendly glass of beer or ale—if and when he chooses. Let's always keep it that way!

Mindszenty Sentenced To Life In Prison

CARDINAL MINDSZENTY, Catholic primate of Hungary, has been sentenced to life imprisonment by his Communist vilifiers on a trumped-up charge of treason. Thus, the atheistic rulers of a religious country have removed the last vestige of organized opposition to their reign of terror and evil administration of Hungary.

If there is any surprise about the outcome of the cardinal's treason trial, it is only that he escaped immediate execution. Even now, confronted with a life prison sentence, the Catholic primate must anticipate that he will be whisked away to some slave labor camp, perhaps in Siberia, where ultimately the Communists will dispose of him at their convenience.

Cardinal Mindszenty was the only voice of outspoken opposition to Communist rule in Hungary. Leader of 7,000,000 Catholic citizens of the state, it was inevitable that the Reds would have to take action to silence this man.

The cardinal's confession of partial guilt is in the best traditions of Communist court procedures. The Reds have always had a peculiar knack of getting their victims to plead guilty to alleged offenses against the state. In fact, it is almost unthinkable that anyone in Russia would do anything except plead guilty to an offense charged by the state.

The disposal of Cardinal Mindszenty's opposition in Hungary fits perfectly into the pattern of Communist policy in every land overrun by the Red horde. Every vestige of opposition has likewise been wiped out in Russia itself, in Poland, in Bulgaria and Romania and all of the other countries too small or too weak to resist Soviet Russia.

It's Buyer's Market

MEMBERS of the National Association of Travel Officials, who attended an executive committee meeting in Blaney Park last week, were in agreement that the "easy money" days of the resort business are definitely out of the picture.

The association, whose membership is composed of tourist association secretaries, resort operators and others affiliated with the travel industry, looks for keener competition for the consumer's dollar in the future. Consequently, it is devoting itself to a campaign to secure repeal of the 15 per cent excise tax on travel, the improvement of recreational advertising copy and other means of promoting public interest in travel and vacations. The travel industry realizes it will have to go after business in 1949, not just wait for it to come on its own volition.

The "take it or leave it" attitude, which has become a disagreeable nuisance in the hectic war years, is going out of the window. And it's a good thing. Members of the NATO, in discussing the future of the travel business, were in full agreement that resorts and others catering to the vacationists will have to give better service and show more courtesy to the public.

Of course, these are traditional rules for business success. They should not be discarded in wartime or peacetime. But now that service and courtesy are coming back again, the weary traveler is to be deeply appreciative.

R.F.D. Boxes

WE ARE TOLD that Phoenicians invented the alphabet. The lads in Washington have reached the epitome in combining three or four or more letters to designate the multitudinous bureaus that droop over the three main departments of our government. Long before alphabetical combinations became the current fad there was one triple - letter combination that had deep meaning to millions of Americans.

R. F. D. boxes sit beside peaceful country roads that wind over the hills and dip into the valleys of the Northeast; they stand beside the straight roads of the level heartland where fertile broad fields stretch in all directions; they cock their heads on the short grass plains and drowse beside sandy roads in the pine-lands of the south. Today the magic of radio and telephone have largely conquered the isolation and loneliness of yesteryear on back-country farms. But there are men and women who remember what it used to mean when the R. F. D. men came along the road each day.

He needed two horses for alternate day use. Through spring mud, autumn rain and winter snows he faithfully made his rounds. Boys and girls, men and women used to meet him at the box, a weather-stained metal container sitting slightly agley on top a peeled wooden post. Old Sam was much more than a civil servant of a distant, impersonal government agency. He carried messages along the route; he was a link with town affairs. He brought the daily and weekly papers, the seed catalogs, farm journals and the big, bulky mail order catalogs. When a letter came from a distant state, he knew it was from Uncle John who had gone to try his fortune in that fabulous land of California. The R. F. D. boxes sit beside the road through the turning years. The essence of life goes in and out the door, blazoned by a small red flag. In recent years when a nation was fighting for the principles it believes in, letters with strange-looking stamps came from distant corners of the world to humble farms far back in the hills. Letters from Mother started their journeys of hope and faith to boys who dreamed of home. And occasionally, there was the desperate heartbreak of an official-looking letter that told of the supreme sacrifice. There's nothing flossy or pretentious about R. F. D. boxes. They are a living part of a nation's daily life.

U. of M. Serves Well

THROUGH the personnel and facilities of its extension service department, the University of Michigan is reaching out and making its influence felt for the good of many communities of the Upper Peninsula.

The U. of M. extension service has its Upper Peninsula headquarters here with Charles Follo, former member of the Escanaba high school faculty, in charge. Since the establishment of the office here, the region has been increasingly aware of the University of Michigan and more appreciative of its far-flung educational activities.

The U. of M. extension service has sponsored lectures by eminent authorities on current political and economic problems, real estate law, conservation and nature subjects, and educational techniques. About a year ago, it assisted various Upper Peninsula cities and towns in organizing conferences for community planning. As a result of these conferences, a number of worthwhile civic projects have been launched and concrete results already have been achieved.

The University of Michigan offers to communities of the Upper Peninsula and the rest of the state the services of staff members who have made a long study of many fields of human activity. Their advice is available for the asking. They always stand ready to help communities help themselves.

NOT SOLVING DEER PROBLEM (Milwaukee Journal)

Wisconsin sportsmen have provided more than $750,000 in the last several years to be used in connection with the "deer problem." So writes W. E. Scott in Michigan Conservation, published by the Michigan conservation department. Mr. Scott is chief of the information and education division of the Wisconsin conservation department.

Of the three-quarter million dollars taken from hunting license funds, only $167,000 was used for actual research—that is, to get the facts. The spending of the rest was directed by the legislature, which earmarked funds to be paid to farmers for deer damage and to purchase deer yard supplies. In such spending the basic problem of the number of deer is ignored.

There just are too many deer. It is as simple as that. They consume all the forest browse they can reach. Then they feed on valuable farm crops planted at much labor and expense and intended to provide livelihood for people. Farmers clearly are entitled to compensation for losses caused by deer that are protected by the state and allowed to multiply unduly. Here again we get back to the question of deer population.

Why preserve an inordinate number of deer? Why not "crop" the herd, allowing hunters to take the surplus? That is what the conservation commission has been urging for years. Resort interests and some other northern groups have opposed the various cropping plans. The governor used the veto on one.

In the end Wisconsin probably will have to accept the recommendations of research experts and game managers and resort to herd reduction. Then maybe it can use its funds for real progress.

JUST PUSHOVERS

(St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

Sometimes the sheep in us is brought out with an unflattering shock. Out of a clear sky, somebody points out to us that we are the most abject of conformists. When it comes to adding words—silly words—to our vocabularies we are veritable pushovers for the advertising agency boys and even for the academic and bureaucratic language-wreckers whom we so often deride.

John T. Winterich makes this painfully clear with a single example. He hopes people concerned with books will never give up the tried and true, if rather unbecomingly, "non-fiction" for the movies "documentary"—a word which also has been picked up by the radio.

The dictionary assigns many meanings to "document," but in its widest use it means "an original or official paper relied on as basic proof or support of anything else." Just how documentary is a film or radio program simply because it is not devoted to fiction? Is a broadcast documentary because it tells the story of an industry rather than a romance? Is a film documentary because it preaches the need for soil conservation and flood control instead of dramatizing a novel? How clumsy!

But it never struck us that way until this minute.

Whatever started people dropping pens that never wrote at the post offices?

Ideas are little things you think up for somebody else to turn down.

Duggan's Work Will Continue

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington. — The good that men do is not always, in the Shakespearean phrase, interred with their bones. It does often live after them and the light of it shines far beyond the little span allotted to each man.

The late Laurence Duggan gave himself in selfless devotion in many ways. But his chief interest after he left the department of state was the Institute of International Education, of which he was president as his father-in-law, Stephen Duggan, had been before him.

At the time that tragedy overtook him and cut off his life at the age of 43, Larry Duggan was starting to raise additional money for the institute. Now his friends have formed a committee to contribute a fund in his name to carry on the work in which he so deeply believed. As Archibald MacLeish, chairman of the committee, puts it:

"It was not in Larry's nature to leave a job unfinished. . . . Such a fund will enable all of us acting together to achieve for him some, at least, of the tasks he would have accomplished had he lived."

EXCHANGE STUDENTS

The Institute of International Education is a private organization that serves as a bridge, not between government and government, but between the peoples of one country and the peoples of another country. It does this by providing funds for American students to go abroad and for foreign students and teachers to come to our colleges and universities.

The last is especially important. There is no way of measuring the profound and far-reaching influence of American education and American experience on the thousands of foreign students who have come to our shores in recent decades. One young man who returns to his native land to take a position of leadership with a favorable impression of American educational standards is worth no one can gauge how many millions of words of propaganda by government.

After the Boxer Rebellion in China, the government in Washington wisely decreed that the indemnity to be paid by China to the United States should go to finance Chinese students in this country. Several thousand Chinese availed themselves of the fund before it was exhausted.

Incidentally, Chinese students in this country now find themselves in a difficult plight as one consequence of the tragedy in their homeland. It has been difficult or impossible for them to get American dollars through their government, and under U. S. immigration laws they are not permitted to earn any money. A ship is now being fitted out to send back to China those who have completed some phase of their education.

Besides the foreign students who have come here, other thousands have been educated in American schools abroad. That is true particularly in the Near East, where several institutions have done pioneering work.

One of them is Athens college, headed by the redoubtable Homer Davis. At the end of the war Davis returned to Athens, and in the face of seemingly insuperable obstacles he got the college started again and repaired at least part of the damage done by the Germans. Davis is now in this country to persuade donors to continue their support for the college.

GOOD WORK TO CONTINUE

The comfortable assumption, of course, is that the government is taking care of everything over there. Billions are being sent abroad and surely that relieves the individual citizen of any responsibility.

But if it is all left to government, then we shall lose something of infinite value; something that has grown out of American idealism and American character. Expressions like the Friendship Train to Europe and now, in reciprocity, the French Thank-You Train show how deep is the impulse of the individual to reach across the limitations and formalities of government.

This impulse must be encouraged and not stifled. It was the goal to which Larry Duggan had intended to devote his life. At the time of his death he was working on plans to extend and enlarge the work of the institute.

Larry will be long remembered for what he did and what he stood for. Those who slurred him after he was dead dishonored only themselves. That slur will quickly be forgotten, if indeed it has not already been forgotten. And the job that Larry Duggan started will be carried on.

Don't spend all you make, advises a bank ad. Lots of people get that mixed and don't make all they spend.

lish from the French. Now in medieval days it was common to give the letter "u" the shape of "v," as is still seen in inscriptions on public monuments and building facades.

When lieutenant entered English the "u" in the French word was changed to "v," thus: "lieutenant"; also lievetenant. But this quickly resulted in the quite natural mispronunciation "liev-tenant."

Other common spellings in the 14th and 15th centuries were "lieftenant," "lyeft-tenant" and "luftenant."

The word was pronounced "liev-tenant" even after the spelling finally dropped the "v," or "f," and restored the "u," becoming lieutenant. In time, the pronunciation "liev-tenant" became modified, first to "liev-tenant," and finally to the present British "lef-tenant."

Says C. A. Lloyd in "We Who Speak English" (Crowell): "Lef-tenant will probably persist as long as the British temperament remains what it is—as long, indeed, as Chomondeley is 'Chumly' and Beauchamp is turned into 'Beecham.'"

Our Changing World

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

THE BOY LINCOLN—On Feb. 12, 1809, in what is now Larue county, Kentucky, a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lincoln.

The mother was a tall, melancholy woman, frail of health.

The house in which she gave birth to the son her husband named Abraham, after his grandfather, was little more than a hut. For Tom Lincoln was generally regarded as lazy, shiftless, and no account.

Yet seven years later, struck by wanderlust, Tom Lincoln worked hard in moving his family to Indiana, then a wilderness. Here the boy helped his father as best he could in building a shelter and carving a farm clearing—but Tom had no enthusiasm for drudgery. And it was here in a rude hut, without windows or floor, that Abe's mother died when he was nine years old. Tom Lincoln buried his wife and moved back to Kentucky, there to marry a widow with three children and "git". She got Tom to work and, for the first time in his life, the boy Abe had a home.

GROWING UP—Abe's stepmother, Sarah Bush Johnson Lincoln, gave the boy enough food to fill his stomach, and a bed on which to stretch his lanky frame. And she helped him get books to read—the Bible, Aesop's "Fables," "Robinson Crusoe," "The Pilgrim's Progress," and Weem's "Life of Washington." At the age of 14 he could read and write.

Yet throughout his lifetime he felt a lack of formal education and when, many years later, he was elected to Congress and asked to set down the facts of his life for the congressional directory, he wrote: "Education defective."

At the age of 17 he had reached his full height, six feet four inches. Thin, with a mop of dark hair falling over his deep-set eyes, he was the butt of many jokes. In the words of a contemporary Abe Lincoln was "the ugliest sight I ever saw."

THE FAILURE—It was in Illinois that Abe, at the age of 23, became a candidate for the legislature. In an address to the people of Sangamon county he said:

"Upon the subject of education, not presuming to dictate any plan or system respecting it, I can only say that I view it as the most important subject which we as people can be engaged in. That every man may at least receive a moderate education, and thereby be enabled to read the histories of his own and other countries, by which he may duly appreciate the value of our free institutions, appears to be an object of vital importance."

He was defeated for the nomination, placing third—but in his own precinct lost only 12 of a total 300 votes.

Abe tried store keeping and failed after one year. It took him 15 years to pay off his creditors. To make a living he served as postmaster and did odd jobs around New Salem, Illinois.

AND SUCCESS—Lincoln's star began to rise with his election to the Illinois legislature in 1836. His statements then and in reelection campaigns revealed a mind free of constraining formality and a man whose courage came from a constant faith in the goodness of the common people.

"I go for all sharing the privileges of the government who assist in sharing its burdens," he said.

He would extend the vote to women, a proposal not to be adopted until nearly a century later.

REPUBLICAN PARTY—

Dropping out of politics for a few years Lincoln devoted his time to law. The forces at work for abolition of slavery drew him like a magnet. Active in organizing the Republican party, Lincoln received 110 votes for vice president at its first national convention in 1856. Two years later he was nominated for senator, but his acceptance speech cost him the election—that famous anti-slavery speech that began: "A house divided against itself cannot stand. I believe this government cannot endure permanently half slave and half free."

Lincoln was nominated for the presidency at the Republican convention in Chicago in 1860 and was elected the same year. His election was the signal for the War of Secession. The tragedy of civil war was upon the nation.

OF LIBERTY—"We all declare for liberty, but in using the same word we do not all mean the same thing. With some the word liberty may mean for each man to do as he pleases with himself and the product of his labor; while with others the same word may mean for some men to do as they please with other men and the product of other men's labor."

Lincoln in his time was the liberal leader, yet so trusted that in wartime as president he wielded dictatorial power. "In him goodness and intelligence combined and made their best result of wisdom."

Roving Reporter

By Hal Boyle

New York, (P)—Big changes often start in small ways.

The ordinary man doesn't notice them at first. But gradually he begins unconsciously to add them up. And all at once there flashes into his mind the conviction: "Something's in the wind."

And there does seem to be something new in the financial wind. The American post-war hurricane of inflation is slowing down on many fronts.

Yes, the signs come in small ways. . . .

A week ago a paper cup of carry-out coffee at the drugstore downstairs cost fifteen cents. This week it dropped to twelve cents. The price of a dish of cereal fell from twenty cents to fifteen.

A few days ago I went to a semi-annual shirt sale at one of Manhattan's men stores. Crowds of men mowed through the shirt stacks in the way only women are supposed to shop for bargains.

A five-cent cigar went on sale here and was front page news.

A prominent realty broker, looking ahead to a time when the housing shortage would be over, asked for a federal law putting a floor on rentals to protect landlords.

These are only a few of many straws showing a shift in the wind.

Even more indicative is a return of old-fashioned politeness to the customer, who used to be always right but has been wrong for several years. Shop owners are getting ready to scrimmage for business again.

Recently I stopped with a friend to get a tankful of gasoline at a filling station in North Carolina. The attendant not only washed the windshield and checked the tires.

"You got a lot of dirt on the floor board," he said. And he whipped out a whisk broom and rustled out the dust. Then he got some distilled water and filled up the battery.

Little courtesy massages like this should make the average customer feel good again after his years of casual abuse. But instead they seem to disturb him somewhat.

He can read in his newspaper and see that, according to official statistics, the dollar is worth only a penny more than it was at the peak of inflation.

The people here who now save a nickel on their morning cereal ought to feel cheered. They've been complaining about the 20-cent price long enough. But somehow it makes them uneasy.

"What's behind it?" they ask.

They like prices to go down. Every customer does. But they have an unspoken fear that if prices go down—jobs will go down, too. And nobody wants that.

At heart the American fear is of depression rather than of inflation. This country has had some terrible depressions. It hasn't known, since Revolutionary War days, the ravages of rampant inflation on a nation-wide scale—inflation, that is, such as has swept Europe and China.

Americans like to expand, hate to contract. They trust growth, fear decline. Few believe the country will ever toboggan again to the economic depths of the early 1930s. But they distrust a down-slide of any kind, because nobody can always be sure of his brakes.

Who's afraid of a "return to normalcy." Practically everybody.

It's really a great deal easier to stand on your head than on your feet.—Lady Mendl, New York socialite.

Washington. — Dixiecrat Governor J. Strom Thurmond, who was cold-shouldered by President Truman at the inauguration, has been snubbed again—this time by Vice President Barkley. . . . Invited to address a meeting of South Carolina Mayors this week, Barkley was all set to accept. But at the last minute Thurmond, a governor, decided to attend the mayors' meeting and also asked Barkley to be his guest at the governor's mansion. . . . This put the VP on the spot.

So the other day on the Senate floor, Barkley beckoned the two South Carolina senators, Burnet Maybank and Olin Johnston, up to the vice president's rostrum, explained confidentially that he wouldn't stay with Thurmond but didn't want to create an incident. The best solution, Barkley decided, was not to go to Columbia at all.

TOBIN IS WORRIED

Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin is worried about a long and possibly bloody coal strike this summer. John L. Lewis's contract with the coal operators expires in May. . . . However, because of mild winter weather in the east, coal stocks are higher than in years, and the operators know that if there is no strike the price of coal will go down. Therefore, to keep the price of coal up a long strike will be necessary. Also, the labor department suspects that some of the bigger coal operators want a long strike in order to squeeze out marginal independents. . . . Secretary Tobin is hoping both sides will put patriotism above profits but he has his fingers crossed.

JAPANESE COMMUNISTS BUSY

General MacArthur has told Secretary of the Army Royal that he has ironclad proof the Communists in Japan are financing their activities through black-market operations. MacArthur says he has evidence the Communists are smuggling a Russian-made medicine for curing stomach diseases into Japan and selling it illegally at fantastic profits. . . . Also, they're selling newspaper which the U. S. Army allocated to the Japanese Communist newspaper "Red Flag." MacArthur reported that several top-ranking Japanese Communists are involved. . . . Royal has told MacArthur to crack down on the Communists whenever he believes best.

DANGER TO SECURITY

Although the Navy was sharply criticized for revealing its proposed strength down to the last plane and ship, Secretary of Defense Forrestal's office has been pressuring the Air Force also to publish its secret strength. This was bluntly suggested to the Air Force by Forrestal's budget chief, W. J. McNeill—who happens to be a reserve admiral. The Air Force turned him down, however, on the grounds of danger to national security.

CONGRESS GETS PREVIEW

Secretary of State Acheson is taking no chances with Congress. As undersecretary he had his fingers burned a couple of times because he didn't tip off Congress in advance about the administration's most important bills. But it's different now.

That's why Acheson and his new assistant secretary of state, Dean Rusk, conferred secretly twice this week with key members of the Senate foreign relations and House foreign affairs committees.

At one hush-hush meeting, Acheson gave Vandenberg a complete fill-in on the negotiations for a North Atlantic alliance and urged him to get behind the treaty when it comes up in the Senate. Vandenberg replied he would have to study it carefully first before making any commitments. Acheson also pledged with Vandenberg to support the administration's bill to appropriate sixteen million dollars to relieve the plight of 750,000 Arab refugees from the Palestine fighting. Acheson said the Arabs, crowded into filthy camps, are dying at the rate of 50 a day. It is absolutely necessary, he said, for the United States to do what it can to help because the American reputation in the Arab world is at stake.

Vandenberg replied that he would be glad to throw his weight behind the bill.

Meanwhile, Assistant Secretary Rusk had gone up to Capitol Hill to talk secretly with Congressman Sol Bloom, Democratic chairman of the foreign affairs committee, about the same thing. The state department had been especially worried about Bloom's reaction to the bill to aid the Arabs, because he had indicated in a speech he might oppose the idea. However, Rusk found Bloom quite reasonable on all points, and now feels he will vote for the bill.

FRENCH GRATITUDE

During wars, Allied nations pull together, work together, fight together—of necessity. They cannot afford to do otherwise. After wars, people sometimes drift apart. After wars, it is easy to bicker over the spoils of war, over the terms of peace.

That the French people want to work at peace just as hard as they worked at war is attested by the 49 boxcars of the Gratitude Train now fanning out to all parts of the U. S. A. The sentiment behind that train is expressed more eloquently than anything that can be written in this column by a letter of a wounded French veteran, who says:

WALL STREET GLOOMY NOW

SEC's Policy Frightens Risk Capital

By ROBERT C. RUARK
New York.—Every time I feel like having a good cry, I go down to Wall street and watch the bankers wall and bump their heads on the cobbles. It is never long before I have taken off my sincere black homburg to beat my breast and weep for all the world as if I were rich, too.

I sob, momentarily, about the shortage of entrepreneur money and the shortsightedness of the Securities and Exchange commission. "Entrepreneur" money is loose capital, gambling money—risk money for the new enterprise, the better mousetrap. The investment of that sort of dough was a stout rung in the lofty ladder of the American standard of living.

It is the money behind the gimmicks and the gadgets that the housewife adores, the money that helped radio and the airlines along. Entrepreneur money builds the small—or large—corporations which finance the inventions or the ideas of poor but brilliant test-tube scanners and sliderule twiddlers.

A Better Mousetrap
I took a rhetorical question with me to Wall street, safely tucked away in my pigskin-type brief case. Could I, as the protagonist of a new and better mousetrap, hustle up the necessary dough to put in on the market, thereby enriching the life of the common man, and eventually achieving fortune for myself?

"Nope," said the board of directors. "Not interested."

Then I pointed out that this was no ordinary mousetrap. It burnt oxygen instead of precious petrol. It had non-freezable ball-bearings, all the latest safety devices, and could be mass-produced as cheaply as kitchen matches. It would shorten hours, save lives, and no hausfrau could afford to be without one.

"Sorry," said the titan of finance. "You couldn't dig up a dime on the street today if you came in with a four-motored airplane which undersold a kiddie-car. The SEC has taken all the profit out of entrepreneurship. The gambling spirit is dead."

What slew the pioneering spirit, I understand, is the SEC's nasty habit of limiting the profit-point spread in speculative corporations so severely that underwriting a public stock proposition is barely worth the trouble, let alone the money gamble.

When a man comes to Wall street with a product to peddle, but no dough, the common procedure is to seek out an underwriting house. If the basic idea is sound, the underwriters scabble up some dough, and then write a lengthy prospectus for SEC approval. The commission scans it for possible fraud, and approves or disapproves the margin of profit the promoters expect to demand when they sell their shares to the public.

Small Swindlers Encouraged
As watchdogs of the widows' mite, the aim is admirable, the bankers say, but for a couple of hitches. By stricturing the profit spread to bare minimums, the SEC kills the flotation of new corporations, by removing the incentive to venture capital for a peanut premium. And secondly, the smallbore swindlers of the orphan are not deterred, since any project incorporated for less than $300,000 is not required to submit a detailed prospectus to SEC for close scrutiny.

They file by "notification," and it's my understanding the SEC winks at the proposed margin of profit of underwriter over customer. This leaves the field open and easy for the fast oil-lease dealer and the swift goldmine stock-peddler, who operate extensively today.

My banking friends said they had no time for my better mousetrap, if exploiting it came to more than $300,000, but if I had a hot goldmine scheme set up for $299,999.99, they would talk a little business. Otherwise, they said, I could take my mousetrap and my tear-stained face and beat a path away from their door. They said free enterprise was dying, and the country was a cinch to die with it. I tell you, those people can spoil anybody's day. Sniff.

School For Genius To Be Endowed By A&P Fortune Heir

Los Angeles, (AP)—Any geniuses in the audience?

If so—dust off those horn-rimmed specs and keep reading. Huntington Hartford, heir to the A & P grocery fortune, plans to endow a school for genius on a 41 acre tract in the Santa Monica mountains. An application filed with the city zoning commissioner by the Huntington Hartford foundation so stated.

The institution's aim will be to bring out the best in some 50 to 75 graduates of the nation's universities. Writers, poets, musicians, sculptors, and painters will be among those chosen.

Some 20 buildings, to be designed by Frank Lloyd Wright, and an annual outlay of $150,000 are planned if the permit is granted.

Real Estate Course Will Open Thursday

WHEATON L. STROM

CHARLES H. SILL

The first of a series of lectures in the 16-week course on real estate law, to be offered in Marquette and Escanaba by the University of Michigan extension service, will be presented at the Northland hotel in Marquette at 7 tomorrow evening, Feb. 10.

This will be followed by a second session to be held at the junior high school in Escanaba on Thursday evening, Feb. 17. The class will meet on alternate Thursdays in the two cities, and students will travel back and forth in order to attend the full 16-session course.

Tomorrow evening, the first session of the class will open with a dinner in the Northland hotel, then will be followed by lectures by Wheaton L. Strom, Escanaba attorney, and Charles H. Sill, lecturer in real estate for the U. of M. extension service. Atty. Strom will conduct nine of the 16 sessions.

Other special lecturers will be Ray Potter, attorney for the Burton Abstract & Title company, Detroit; Louis Charbonneau and John Chase, Detroit attorneys; and Leon Walsh, Lansing attorney and director of examinations for the real estate division of the Michigan Corporations and Securities commission.

The object of this course is to acquaint businessmen with those points of law which persons in the real estate business should know. It will be conducted on the lecture and discussion plan. Sessions will be for two hours from 7 to 9 p. m.

Following are some of the topics to be emphasized: abstract of title, warranty deed, quit claim deed, vacating of property, the torrens system, title insurance, sheriff's deed, easements, encroachments, land contracts, leases, eviction for non-payment of rent, foreclosures of mortgages and land contracts.

A graduate of Alma college and the University of Michigan, Charles H. Sill has had long experience in the real estate business. He was for several years president of Sill and Hadley, Inc., one of the largest realty organizations in the country. The company handled several of the insurance companies' accounts, the largest being the Prudential Life Insurance company.

In 1935, he was seriously injured in an automobile accident, and due to his physical condition sold his interest to his associate.

ROCKET THEATRE

Rock, Mich.

Mr. Sill and George Drennan formed the corporation of Drennan and Sill, Inc., in 1937 to do appraisal work and act in an advisory capacity on real estate matters with corporations, insurance companies and estates.

For the past 15 years, Mr. Sill has been interested and active in the advancement of real estate and financing through the medium of education. He has done considerable writing and lecturing throughout the United States, and during the past year has been active in setting up the curriculum for a real estate and financing course for Michigan State College.

Wheaton L. Strom was graduated from the liberal arts school of the University of Michigan in 1936 and the law school with a juris doctor degree, in 1939. While attending the university, he was elected a member of Coif, honor society in the law field. He practiced law two years in Grand Rapids with the firm of Butterfield, Keeney and Amberg. Since 1940, he has been engaged in law practice in Escanaba, except for the time spent in the U. S. navy as a lieutenant junior grade.

Grand Marais

Womans' Club

Grand Marais, Mich.—The Womans' Club met at the Community church Thursday evening and approximately 21 members were present.

Mrs. John A. Barrett of Newberry, spoke to the club on "Amateur Dramatics," with special emphasis on the "little theatre" phase.

The highlight of the evening was Mrs. Barrett's presentation of the 16th Century play "The Violin Maker of Cremona," by Francois Cooper, in which she portrayed four characters. She gave such an entertaining and moving performance that it was with deep regret that the conclusion of the drama was viewed.

Mrs. Furlong, 5th district president, also of Newberry, spoke to the club about the Federation and answered the many questions asked her concerning numerous club matters.

Because there were two speakers in one evening the women voted to dispense with the regular business meeting and adjourned to the dining room where refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Business Man Sees New Era In South

By BEM PRICE
AP Newsfeatures

Greenville, S. C.—Sometimes Phil Hightower thinks he is living in a revolutionary period. Certainly, he believes, the social and economic changes about him have taken place over the past five years too rapidly to be evolutionary.

Hightower, (the name is fictitious), who is prospering as never before in his 46 years as a small businessman, isn't at all sure he is happy about it. His prosperity is part of an upheaval, economic and social, which began about 15 years ago and which was given tremendous impetus by the war.

But without this economic change, he thinks, he would never have had to face what is known as the "Negro problem." Hightower's quandary confronts white men throughout the South.

Industries have accelerated their movement southward. Many are in the farm belt. They bring outsiders—union organizers and others with alien views.

Now 75 per cent of the South's farmers are landowners, an increase over the 15-year period of roughly 30 per cent. The number of sharecroppers in 13 southern states declined 54.1 per cent among whites, 31.2 per cent among Negroes in the 15 years.

The number of Negro farmers in the South dropped 24.6 per cent while the number of white farmers dropped only 5.4 per cent. For an eight-year period, migration drained 2,000,000 people from the South, including around 700,000 Negroes. In Hightower's county, thousands of Negroes left the farm and the South.

The movement began slowly, reached high speed in 1943 in Hightower's county. Many Negro farm tenants, he said, began hearing of high paid war jobs available in the cities around 1943. They drifted to the cities.

As the Negro left the farm, the white landowner, left without the labor supply he always thought inexhaustible, was driven to mechanization. This population shift has left towns such as Hightower's worried. For five years the Negroes have had steady jobs but now many are forced to seek part time work.

Hightower foresees a day when mass unemployment among Negroes will place a tremendous burden on his little town's welfare agencies. Many Negroes in recent months, Hightower says, have told him they would like to return to the land—but their places have been taken by the machine.

Once the population of Hightower's town was divided two whites to one Negro. Now the proportion is about even. In 1940 there was 2,715 farms in the county. Today there are 2,492. Most of these farms had anywhere from one to 20 tenant families. The amount of land in farms decreased from 318,990 acres to 277,004.

The agricultural trend in the county is toward cattle. Today there are 6,000 more head than in 1940.

In his lifetime, Hightower has seen establishment in the city of two textile mills with a total weekly payroll of around $100,000 split among 2,500 employees.

In recent years, Hightower says, there seem to be a good many more "uppity Negroes," mostly among the young ones who went off to war or who lived up north for a while.

"Now," he continues, "I'm not against the Negro in his place. What is his place? Well, I guess you've got to live down here all your life to know."

"Take when my father died. He'd lived here all his life and held public office most of the time. When he had his funeral he was laid out in state at the home. Hundreds of Negroes came to view his body and they gathered in the back yard. The white folks, of course gathered in the front."

Asked if he believed the white race superior to the Negro, Hightower replied:

"No, not exactly. It's kind of hard to define. There are a good many Negroes here who are a lot smarter than some white folks I know. There are three doctors, a dentist, an insurance man and an undertaker, for example, who are smart as whips and I treat them as politely as anyone else."

"But when my children are sick," Hightower went on, "I don't send for them. They do all their business, except at the bank, among Negroes."

"Now don't get me wrong, I was in New York last year and I sat next to a Negro at a play. I didn't mind a bit, but I wouldn't do it down here. It just isn't done. Besides, no Negro would try it."

When President Truman urged passage of civil rights legislation Hightower said he felt personally hurt and that such an act "might let the Negro get out of hand completely." Hightower voted the States' Rights ticket, he said.

"We are resentful of outside interference," he said. "We can solve this problem ourselves. I believe we are doing it. I think organizations such as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People only stir up trouble."

"The Negro doesn't want social equality and the Negro knows if he gets into trouble the white man is going to help him out, not his own folks."

"Why look what has happened down here in the last 20 years," Hightower said. "When I was a young man the Negro never thought of voting, but a lot of 'em did in the last election here."

"And look what else has happened. We are now building a new high school for Negroes. We whites donated a park, a swimming pool and raised money to equip a baseball team. We even go out and watch their football games. Of course, they set aside a special section for us."

"I also think we give the Negro justice. Look what happened down in Wetumpka, Ala., where they gave two white men 45 years apiece for raping a Negro woman."

Hightower, who finished at the University of South Carolina and married a school teacher, prides himself that he reads two newspapers rather thoroughly. He subscribes to Newsweek and his wife takes Life and belongs to the Book-of-the-Month Club.

"I don't think we are isolationists down here," said Hightower. "I think sentiment is with the Marshall Plan. We have a preacher who talks about the Chinese situation, too."

"We are Methodists and the Methodists have done a lot of Drugless Health!

Read What They Say!

REGARDLESS of how long you have been a sufferer, and how many medicines you have tried before, you can now hope for relief if you try GEO-MINERAL, the wonderful mineral aid. Feel and enjoy the results one week after you start taking it. GEO-MINERAL comes from the earth—Nature's laboratory. Contains NO alcohol, NO preservatives, NO oil, NO harmful drugs, NO dope — is NOT habit forming. Contains ONLY Nature's minerals, the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments — highly recommended by the medical profession.

FOR THOUSANDS of years ever since Hippocrates was the father of medicine, minerals and other natural medicines were a reliable remedy for most of our common ailments. GEO-MINERAL will enrich your blood, help to make you strong, full of pep, life and energy. If you suffer from nutritional anemia, nervousness, lack of vitality and energy see what GEO-MINERAL will do for you.

Amazing Results

MEDICAL records show 65% of men and women over 35 suffer from nutritional mineral-iron anemia. When you feel nervous, dull, tired, lazy, have dizzy spells, no ambition to work or play, a poor appetite, when your eyes lack that bright spark, and your mind brilliance, when headaches get the best of you, and you feel old before your time, and life seems not worth living, with worry wearing you down—it may be simply lack of minerals in your blood. GEO-MINERAL is then what you need.

RHEUMATISM, arthritis are dreadful diseases. Acid condition in the blood is often their cause. What could be the remedy? For thousands of years, minerals have been used to relieve the pain and suffering of these ills. People, on the advice of their doctors, go to mineral springs to find cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Warm Springs in Georgia. He was helped or would not have gone there twice a year.

Wonder Minerals

YEAR after year, people rush to mineral springs and spas, to drink and bathe in their miraculous water. We have all heard of the wonderful springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thronion in ancient Greece where, according to legend, Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

GEO-MINERAL contains minerals you get at the world's best

"We not only sell Geo-Mineral"—says G. A. Littlefield, Manager of Smith's Drug Store, Gastonia, N. C.—"but as pharmacists, we know good medicine, and we believe there is none better than Geo-Mineral as a supplement for mineral deficiency. Doctors, hospitals, sanatoriums know the value of natural minerals. We are not surprised at the many users who came back to buy more and told us stories of amazing benefit. We recommend it to our friends, relatives, and beloved ones, and to every one wishing for better health."

spings. Watch your elimination from your bowels a day or two after using it. The waste, black as the color of your shoes, will start to break away, and you will SEE it! Also examine your urine. You may see impurities—poisonous waste—coming out of your kidneys, relieving you. And then realize the priceless value of GEO-MINERAL.

100% Guaranteed!

WE URGE everyone to try GEO-MINERAL. Do not hesitate one moment. Go to your drug store now. Get one bottle. Use it one week. If you are not 100 per cent satisfied, we will refund your money.

REGARDLESS of how long you have been suffering, and how many medicines you have tried before, GEO-MINERAL may be the remedy you need.

TRY it today! It may do wonders for you—and be the best investment for your health. Make you feel, eat, sleep, work and enjoy life better. GEO-MINERAL: 1 bottle $1.10, 6 for $6.00

Boom Is Over-But There'll Be No Bust

New York, (NEA)—The economic tide has turned. Inflation has run its course. Unless the government interferes radically, deflation is coming around the corner.

That is the considered and almost unanimous opinion of dozens of economists, business men, merchants, labor spokesmen and other skilled observers whose views—and the reasons for them—NEA Service has checked.

But—and this is very important—

Unless too many somebodies get foolishly hysterical—

There is not going to be any depression;

There is not going to be mass unemployment;

There are not going to be bread lines;

There will not be even a major recession. And—

Prices are not going back down to the pre-war levels that used to be "normal." Such prices are not normal any more, as a rule, though individual items might sink to or below pre-war levels because of improved manufacturing techniques, increased mass production, or shifts in consumer usage.

With one single exception, the experts canvassed in this study agree that the day-by-day news of price cuts, sales, surpluses, layoffs, reduced working hours, shows a trend, and is not merely another temporary break such as fooled so many of us about a year ago.

That consensus, in summary, is that:

1. The cost of living will continue to drop until it stabilizes itself at a level lower than the present but well above that of 1939.

But—price reductions will be swift, both on the way down and in the new level at which each price will settle after a time.

2. Soon there will be no important shortages, other than housing, to trouble the average man or woman.

Already there are over-supplies in many lines, and the number is increasing. That is the reason for the intense price competition—the big sales—the bargain offers—a new attitude on the part of sales people.

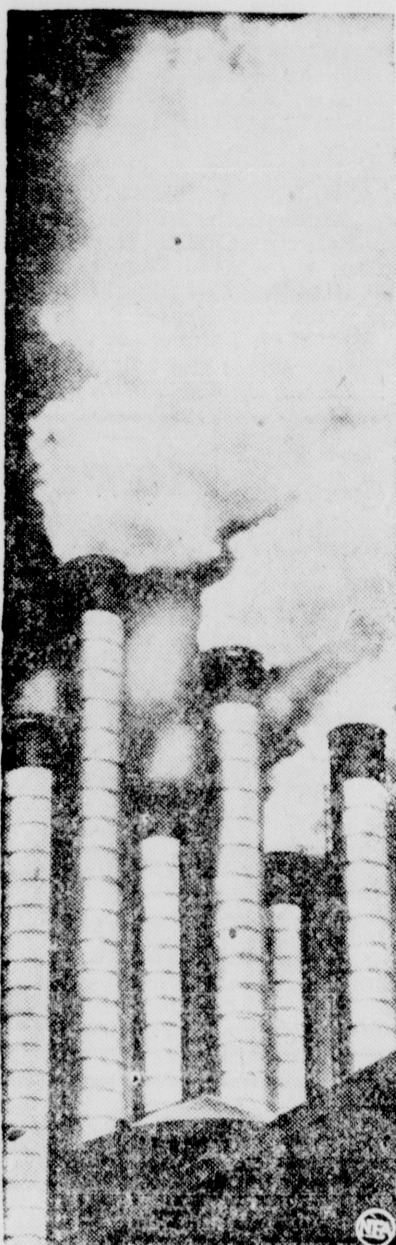

But—manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers all are watching the situation carefully. They know such a break had to come. Most of them are taking steps to get rid of surplus and to stabilize manufacture at the level of demand.

3. The current wave of layoffs, shorter working weeks, shut-downs for inventory and repairs, mark our return to a more normal employment condition than the mad pace at which industry has operated since war production got into swing. To that extent it is permanent.

But—employment still is far above anything we dreamed of before the hyper-activity of war-time. There is no reason it should not continue at a very high level.

While there will be more unemployed, by technical definition, than for some years now, unemployment compensation will help to maintain purchasing power and prevent a serious break.

In general, the tightening up has come in "marginal" industries—those that have been kept at artificial strength by abnormal conditions—and in over-developed industries, that could operate full tilt only because pipelines to consumers had been emptied by the war.

The smoke of industry's war-born pace is diminishing . . .

The readjustment has been going on for some time. The temporary break last winter was one phase—not the first, but the first to attract much attention.

It has progressed thus far without general recognition because it has been highly selective.

When almost all of industry gets its pipelines filled at once, and finds a surplus, and the public can not or will not buy its output, a depression, by whatever name called, is created.

But this time industries came to the turn in the road, one by one. Each had time to adjust itself before another slowed down. (This was not literally true, industry by industry, but it was in general, and it simplifies what economists call the "selectivity" of the slow-down.)

As a result, persons thrown out

GOV. WILLIAMS STORY IN POST

CIO And AFL Are Given Credit For Victory

Governor G. Mennen Williams' handling of Michigan's affairs during the next two years will have a definite bearing on whether organized labor joins up with the Democratic Party nationally, or continues with its dreams of a liberal third party, according to Associate Editor Richard Thruelsen, in this week's Saturday Evening Post. In "When Michigan Woke Up He Was Governor," Mr. Thruelsen says CIO-PAC support was largely responsible for Governor Williams' election.

of work by the braking of activity in one industry have had opportunity to get relocated before other industries threw more men onto the labor market.

There is no reason why this selective process should not continue, if it is let alone, economists feel.

If the government should step in, and bolster up weak industries by subsidy or other artificial method, it could slow or maybe even stop the readjustment. It could perhaps hold up the weak sisters for some time.

But the post-war level of activity has rested upon consumer shortages, family savings as well as high weekly income, and upon the slowness of some industries to get into full production. It was artificial, and in the opinion of experts it can not endure permanently.

So if weaker parts of the industrial system are propped up, by creation of ever cheaper money or any other method, it is felt that when the stronger parts come to their inevitable slow-down the weaker ones will fall with them.

That would result, unnecessarily, in everything breaking at once—the cause of depressions—instead of a relatively painless selective readjustment.

A protégé of Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy, Mr. Williams' platform was straight New Deal, according to the Post article. During both the primary and regular campaigns, Mr. Williams was presented to the public as a "socialite, an heir to industrial millions, a consecrated New Dealer, a former Washington bureaucrat, a fervid liberal who had never held elective office, a Frank Murphy protégé, an Ivy League intellectual and a young man with a boyish grin."

"It would be difficult to conceive of a candidate for public office with more apparent political liabilities," Mr. Thruelsen comments. But Mr. Williams squeezed through the Democratic primary with the help of the CIO-PAC, and went on to defeat the incumbent governor, Kim Sigler.

"The CIO, with some AFL help, called the shots and did the passing," Mr. Thruelsen says. "The PAC's strategists . . . anticipated the 'wealthy-socialite' tag—a damaging phrase which is hard to refute. So they advised their man to play it straight and simple—with the crossroads visit, the town-hall talk and the warming handshake proving that both Grosse Pointe and less fashionable Michigan were a part of one big mismanaged state."

"The CIO's part in the campaign entailed turning the union vote into a solid Democratic vote and squeezing the last New Deal ballot out of Wayne County and the other industrial oases. In former years and campaigns, the labor politicians had used billboard and newspaper advertising, public appeals and all the usual channels of proselytizing. This time they changed their tactics—a vigorous and persistent campaign was conducted within the unions by means of fight talks at a series of attendance-required meetings."

"This all-out, new style union campaign was undoubtedly large-

Certificate Of Honor Awarded
To "Escanaban"

Escanaba high school's newspaper has been awarded a state certificate of honor for superior effort in the 1948 school press project, it was announced this week by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association.

Editor of the Escanaban is Charles Neumeier. Staff advisors are Miss Nina Ley and George Fab.

The project is sponsored annually by the Michigan Tuberculosis association, National Tuberculosis Scholastic Press association as an educational feature of the sale of Christmas seals. Locally, the TB committee of the Escanaba Woman's club supervised the project. In the event students write articles and present cartoons in the November and December issues of school newspapers. The papers are then submitted to Lansing for state judging.

From 97 schools entering the project last year, 23 were awarded state certificates of honor. Nine of the 23 will be submitted for national appraisal.

Judging for the 1948 press project was carried out by the Michigan State college journalism department.

80 YEARS OLD—John Dagenais, sr., of 1409 North 20th street, celebrated his 80th birthday anniversary Tuesday, February 8. Mr. Dagenais, who was born in Canada, has lived in Escanaba for the past 35 years.

Today's Recipes

Mrs. Clifford Westerdahl of Wilson has sent in her favorite recipe for good waffles requested by a Gould City reader, and she also tells how to keep the waffles crisp.

Waffles

2 cups flour, level
2 eggs, separated
1 and 1/2 cups sweet milk
1 tsp salt
3 tps baking powder

1/2 cup melted butter
Sift flour, baking powder and salt in mixing bowl. Beat egg yolks, add milk and beat, adding flour slowly. Beat until smooth, then fold in melted butter. Lastly fold in egg whites beaten stiff. This makes 24 waffles.

Now to keep them crisp during baking time, place a slice of bread between each layer of waffles. The bread takes the heat and it will not hurt the bread.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carmody, 1323 Stephenson avenue, are the parents of a son, born February 7 at St. Francis hospital. The baby who is the second child in the family weighed eight pounds and one ounce.

Hall Of Manistique

A meeting of 4-H Club officers of all units in the county is scheduled to be held in the town hall of Manistique township on the evening of Thursday, Feb. 17, Fred Bernhardt, district 4-H Club leader announces.

Invited to the gathering will be presidents, vice presidents, secretaries, treasurers and news reporters, and part of the evening will be spent in explaining the tasks these officers are to assume. The rest of the evening will be in the nature of a social get-together followed by lunch. The meeting will begin at seven o'clock and should end by nine o'clock.

Mrs. Frank Arrowood, who has been County Home Economics president for the past two years, will talk to the presidents and vice presidents.

Miss Dorothy Erler, new assistant state 4-H leader for girls, will work with the secretaries. J. R. Lowell, Manistique manager of the Escanaba Daily Press, will tell news reporters what kind of stories newspapers want. Mr. Bernhardt will work with the treasurers and tell how to keep a record of all money collected and spent.

MWC WILL HEAR
RADIO WRITERRichard Morenus Will Discuss Writing

Richard Morenus, script writer for numerous radio programs, will address the Manistique Women's Club at its next regular meeting at Lakeside school next Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Morenus began work in radio when the industry was in its infancy, over twenty-five years ago. A native of LaPorte, Ind., Morenus, after graduating from Dartmouth college, he became a member of the sales department of the Cable Piano Company and in 1924 began radio work with station WWO-WGL at Ft. Wayne, later he went to New York City to join the script department of the National Broadcasting Company, where he wrote, directed and produced network shows.

In 1940, Morenus left New York City for Sioux Outlook, Ont., in the Canadian brush country, where he continued writing for radio on a free lance basis. During the past several years he has written scripts for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, the First Nighter, Grand Hotel, Curtain Time, Skippy's holiday Theatre, and other well known daytime serials such as Myrt and Marg, Betty and Bob, and Ma Perkins.

Since coming to Escanaba a year and a half ago, Morenus has continued to write for radio and has done some teaching in radio writing for the University of Michigan Extension Service.

Special music at the program will be furnished by Mrs. George Morton and Herbert Peterson.

No Action Taken
On Proposed New Milk Ordinance

A committee, specially appointed to pass upon a milk ordinance to be submitted to the city council failed to take complete action on the measure and will give it further consideration at a meeting set for the evening of Monday, February 21.

Walter Nelson, representing the Nelson Cloverland Creamery, one of the committee suggested that a certain clause setting limits to the distance from which the milk supply may be taken be considered before the ordinance is presented and in deference to his suggestion, the meeting was postponed.

The ordinance under consideration is a model one drawn up by state department of agriculture. It is likely that this ordinance, with a few changes, will eventually be passed to replace the present ordinance which is not only inadequate but is also obsolete. It is understood that the ordinance will not be brought up at next Monday evening's session of the council.

Social

Party

Mrs. Annette Huber entertained at a pay-to-play card party on Monday evening at her home on Cedar street, for the benefit of the March of Dimes. Prizes in bridge went to Lottie Weber, high, and Nellie Ott, second. In five hundred Lalla Martin received high, and Hedwig Cooper, second. Mrs. Violet Pavlov received the special award and Mrs. Ann Parente, consolation. A delicious lunch was served later.

V. F. W. Auxiliary

A regular meeting of the V. F. W. Auxiliary to Schoolcraft Post 4420, was held Monday evening in the V. F. W. club rooms. During the business session it was decided to help on the Red Cross drive. It was also decided upon to have a party to raise funds for a contribution in the re-establishment of the library at the Jackson Memorial Laboratory at Bar Harbor, Maine, to help the cancer research work. The following were initiated at this meeting: Audrey B. Malloch, Mildred Johnson, Alva Jackson, Delina Archambeau, Bessie LaBar, Arlene Tufnel, Merle Tufnel, and Irene Anderson. A delicious lunch was served by hostesses: Audrey Poquette, Roberta Smith, Vera Udell and Alma Generou.

City Briefs

SLALOM RACE
NEXT SUNDAYAnother Senior Event Is Planned By Club

Another slalom event for senior skiers is to be held at the Sports Park this coming Sunday, it was decided at a meeting of the Ski Club Monday evening.

It was also decided to purchase a new first aid kit to be kept at the clubhouse at the sports park for use in case of injuries.

The usual Thursday night ski party is to be held again this week and snow conditions are reported ideal for the event.

Next weekend the Gladstone club will sponsor the appearance of a number of Escanaba jumpers at the Ironwood ski meet.

Twirlers Perform
On Friday Evening

Twirling exhibitions will be given Friday evening between halves of the final home games of the season between Gwin and Gladstone.

During the half-time intermission in the preliminary the junior twirling class will strut its stuff. Members are Shirley Sandstrom, Mary Ann Paine, Jean Anderson, Shirley Godfrey, Patsy Hoskins, Barbara Sandstrom, Mary Lancour, Marlene Arley, June Johnson, Mary Hult, Lorraine Sundelius, Joanne Foster and Mary Oathout.

Between halves of the main game the senior twirlers will perform. They are Arleen Green, Barbara Brassick, Margaret Ann Erickson, Elaine Aoyotte, Lowanna Seeley, Joan Beveridge, Dorothy Waeghe, Bertha Erfourth, Dorothy Noskey, Nancy Pilon and Jean Young.

The junior band will accompany the junior twirlers while the senior band will play for the senior twirlers.

The roster of the junior band is as follows:

Flute, Louise Klug; Soprano sax, Helen Oathout; clarinet, Jane Jandro, Margaret Olson, Joyce Stowe; Cornet, Wilfred Vandresse, Arthur Praiss, Billy Pelkey, John Trygg, Franklin Lash and Patsy Ward.

Trombone, Harold Erickson, Janice Hoffmann, Norma Trekas and Myrna Butler.

Bass, David Nelson; drum, Gary Nieuwenkamp.

Rotary Club Will Entertain Ladies

A multiple birthday party is being planned by the Rotary club for its next Ladies' Night to be held Monday evening at the Yacht club.

At everybody's birthday party every guest is said to share the honors, everyone to participate in the fun making. The years are forgotten while the members and their ladies alternately compliment and rib the Januarians, Februarians, and other month-gods. Only one group lauds it over all others. The Aprilians' subject is, "April Fool, Everybody."

Though birthdays will be the theme of the party, the schedule indicates many other laugh stunts to crowd the evening with surprises. Titles of some of the skits are, "Miss Cute Trick and Mr. Life of the Party," "Behind the Iron Curtain," "Poppa Loves Mama, but Wait."

Program chairman Wallace Cameron reminds the guests to bring along a gift, "not the ordinary kind, but the extraordinary, the idea being to make your gift appear funnier to the recipient than his does to you. Go easy on sentiment, hard on laugh."

Mrs. Fred Lindberg,
Long-Time Resident
Of Gladstone, Dead

Mrs. Fred Lindberg, 77, of 205 North Court, died last night at a convalescent home in Peshtigo, Wis., where she had been a patient for the past two weeks. Mrs. Lindberg had been ill for five years.

She was born, Edla Ohman, January 1, 1872, in Wassar, Kven, Finland, and came to the United States in 1892. She lived at Norway for a few months before moving to Gladstone. Her marriage to Mr. Lindberg took place in Escanaba April 3, 1893, and they spent all of their married life in Gladstone. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary this past spring.

She was a member of the First Lutheran church and active in church affairs up to the time of her illness. She leaves her husband and five children: Mrs. William (Ina) Green of Gladstone; Mrs. Eric (Signe) Jackson, Detroit; August of Adrian, Mich.; Mrs. A. R. (Edith) Johnson, Detroit; and Walfrid, Gladstone; five grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Herman Back of South Bend, Wash., and a brother, John Ohman in Wassar, Finland. Three children preceded her in death, a daughter, Ida, who died at the age of six months, another daughter, Ida, who died in 1930, and a son, George, who was killed in World War II, in September 1944.

The body was taken to the Kelley funeral home. Arrangements for the services are incomplete but the funeral probably will be held on Friday.

SCOUTS ENJOY
SKI OUTINGOver 150 Boys Attend
Sport Park Event

Boy Scouts of the Red Buck district, estimated in number at 150 or more, enjoyed a ski party Monday evening at the Gladstone Winter Sports Park.

Scouts from Hermansville, Bark River, Powers, Escanaba, Rapid River and Gladstone were in attendance.

Hills were floodlighted, tows in operation and lunch was served in the clubhouse which was heated and open for the convenience of the boys.

All seemed to be enjoying the event greatly.

As evidence of the appetites worked up during several hours on the slopes, the boys consumed 30 pounds of hot dogs, 26 dozens of buns and ten cases of pop before departing for home.

Okla. A-M Matmen At It Again! Post 64 Straight Wins

Stillwater, Okla., Feb. 9 (P)—The NCAA champion wrestlers of Oklahoma A&M college have all but slipped the hammerlock on an all-time victory mark.

Working in the shadow of their school's towering basketball record, the Aggie mat-men have quietly run up a string of 64 consecutive dual meet wins—without a loss in 12 years.

They have only four more victories to go to tie the record of 68 wins set by the late Ed Gallagher's A&M teams from 1921 to 1932.

Art Griffith, the Aggies' present coach, is confident his men can do the trick but "it's going to take a lot of luck too."

The present string goes back to 1937 when the immortal Gallagher, who made college wrestling a science, was coaching. He died in 1940 when the string was 27.

Under Griffith, who took over in 1940, Aggie wrestlers have won 37 straight. The closest call to having the string broken was last year when A&M won 14-13 from the University of Oklahoma.

Vecek Concentrates On Signing Bearden, Lemon; Feller's In

Cleveland, Feb. 9 (P)—Bob Feller's in the fold, and president Bill Vecek of the Cleveland Indians could concentrate his persuasive powers today on signing the remainder of his pitching staff's big three—Gene Bearden and Bob Lemon.

The good humor with which Rapid Robert took a substantial but undisclosed cut probably encourages the fearless one as he tackles the job of satisfying Lemon and Bearden, neither of whose valuable fingers itched for the pen on the first Vecek offer.

There was nothing to confirm it amid the smiles and handshakes and popping flash bulbs at the Tribe's press conference yesterday, but the informed guesses were that Feller's my slash was about $10,000 and left him $40,000 base pay and around $32,500 in prospective home attendance bonuses.

Somewhat miffed, Vecek brushed aside the question of whether Feller would continue to endorse the Tribe's largest pay check. Manager and Shortstop Lou Boudreau received a sizeable raise two weeks ago from a two-year contract reportedly calling for $65,000 straight salary each year.

Communication

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Limit communications to 300 words. Letters must bear signature and address. Name must be published.)

Sports Editor,
Escanaba Daily Press:

In the second communication in Monday's paper, the actions of the fans behind the goal. Gene Harris are described as "just a few seconds of good-natured kidding." It was neither for "just a few seconds" nor was it "good-natured kidding." When fans throw snow onto the ice and at the goalie, hitting him at least once that I know of, besides the continuous attempts to distract him and insult him, how can you call that good-natured kidding?

The gentleman in question walked up to a companion of mine and myself and put an arm on the shoulder of each of us and said: "You two look like husky young fellows, why don't you go down to the end where the other fellows are, and holler at the goalie?" My companion then said to him: "Listen here, don't you know that can start a riot?" We really got mad when his reply was: "That's what we want!" It was then that we talked to the state police about the incident.

A loyal Hawks' fan,
Larry Pratt, Jr.

P. S. In answer to the challenge in that second communication about giving the name of the man in question, we know his name.

Braves Stay In Driver's Seat After Getting Big Lead; Creten, Green Star

Gladstone's battling Braves relentlessly avenged an earlier loss to Escanaba by downing the Eskymos, 49-40, before a howling near-capacity crowd at the junior high gym here last night.

East Teams Top Scoring

New York, Feb. 9 (P)—The East hasn't a single team in college basketball's "first ten" but it leads the rest of the nation in pouring the big round ball through the meshed buckets.

Conversely, the Missouri valley, which fathers such hardwood giants as St. Louis and Oklahoma A&M, is the poorest of all sections in point production although it's right next to the top in free-throw accuracy.

The valley also boasts the most vigorous horn-tooting in the country while the south, home of Kentucky's No. 1 Wildcats, and the southwest are the most lenient in foul calling.

These were just a few of the interesting findings by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau today after putting the sport under its mid-season microscope. But that's just part of it. The NCAB statistical wizards discovered college basketball hasn't reached the end of its madcap scoring rush, which for years now has shown a new point high with each successive season.

The present campaign will top all the rest with an average of about 108 points a game among major teams. This represents a continuous climb — sometimes spurt, sometimes slow—from the 50-point marks that were routine for a game (both teams) a couple of decades ago.

"It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD

Caught on the rebound at the Brave-Eskymo game last night: The whole program was a scorcher . . . The Eskey Bees had a 35-31 lead only to lose 37-35 when LaLonde dropped a quickie in the last 15 seconds . . . Fans were cheering as much in that closing spree as they were in the varsity game that followed.

Although Gladstone jumped into an early lead and stayed there, there wasn't a letup in excitement at any time . . . First, the basketball populace was amazed at the Braves scoring punch at the start . . . For awhile there, they couldn't miss . . . And tight guarding kept the Eskymos at bay . . . Coach Cappy Kell was pleased as punch after the game, particularly after the dismal showing at Ishpeming.

It was sweet revenge for that 37-23 loss to Escanaba in Gladstone Jan. 7 . . . Phil Creten and Chuck Green were hot, but the Gladstone attack was well-balanced . . . In case you're wondering why they call Dick Pryal a sparkplug, witness his two stolen-ball acts at the outset of the second quarter . . . One right after another . . . He converted both into field goals.

But it was Gladstone's night . . . Well, like several Brave fans told us after the game: "Be sure to say Gladstone won!" And one fellow remarked that they won despite the fact they aren't used to playing in such a big gym . . . H'mmm! . . . Incidentally, the mail sack included a Valentine and a poem that is just short of being masterpiece . . . We liked particularly the "Local 180 by 80."

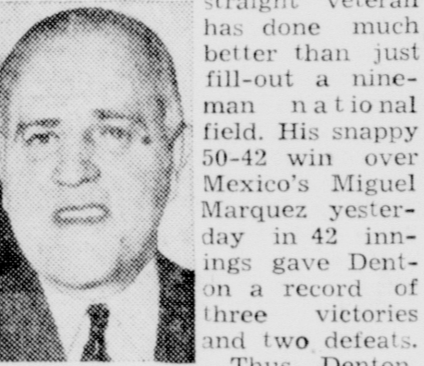

This morning's mail brought us an amazing thing—a letter from a friend in Gladstone thanking us for organizing bowling coverage in this area, standardizing publishing of weekly reports and writing the Saturday column for all you 200 and 600 honor count keggers . . . At that moment, precisely, the sun came out!

66-Year-Old Tiff Denton Seeks To Dethrone Hoppe

Chicago, Feb. 9 (P)—Sixty-six-year-old Tiff Denton today was shooting for a chance to dethrone Willie Hoppe as the world 3-cushion billiards champion.

Denton was an added starter in the national cue meet at Navy pier. The tourney sponsors dragged him out of semi-retirement to cross cues with the best in the business.

But the dignified, ram-road

Willie Hoppe straight veteran has done much better than just fill-out a nine-man national field. His snappy 50-42 win over Mexico's Miguel Marquez yesterday in 42 innings gave Denton a record of three victories and two defeats.

Thus, Denton, co-holder of the world record run of 17, has a chance to land among the top three national finishers who will square off this weekend against Hoppe, in a round-robin meet for the world title.

Denton has met Hoppe, seeded into the world finals, in five tournaments since he began clicking billiard balls 42 years ago. Tiff defeated the 61-year-old Hoppe once, in the 1934 world tourney at New York.

Denton, a native of Harrison, Ark., won the world title in 1923 at Philadelphia.

Two former champions—Jimmy Caras, Upper Darby, Pa., and Irving Crane, Binghamton, N. Y.—topped the pockets division today with seven straight victories and no defeats, followed by another former titlist, Andrew Ponzi of Players signed were: Forrest Main and Cliff Chambers, pitchers, by the Pittsburgh Pirates (NL). Hobert Landrith, catcher, by Cincinnati (NL). Dick Sisler, first baseman, and Jocko Thompson, pitcher, by the Philadelphia Phillies (NL). Bob Hall, pitcher, by the Boston Braves (NL). Andy Patko, outfielder, by the Chicago Cubs (NL). Jerry Coleman and Jackie Phillips, infielders, by the New York Yankees (AL). Bill Cox and Jackie Robinson, infielders, by the Brooklyn Dodgers (NL).

Sports Briefs

New Orleans—The Southern Association New Orleans Pelicans purchased Outfielder Roy "Stormy" Weatherly from Indianapolis of the American Association.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Tony Dimico of Schenectady, N. Y., handed Lee Sala, Donora, Pa., middleweight, the first defeat of his career, scoring a ten-round decision.

Palm Beach, Fla.—Margaret Lindsay, Decatur, Ill., and Peggy Kirk, Findlay, Ohio, tied for medalist honors in the qualifying round of the 24th annual Palm Beach Women's golf championships with 71.

1949 Women Bowling Champions Crowned

Fern Stacey captured first in Class A singles with 555 and hit 1575 for the all-events championship, and Class B singles and all-events honors went to Pat Anderson (438) and Evelyn Skelenger (2181), respectively, in the 1949 Escanaba Women's Bowling association tournament just concluded at the Escanaba Arcade alleys.

Delta Cools rolled 2282 to top first in the Class A team event, with L. & L. (Arcade) second on 2218 and Maytag Sales third with 2158. Venus was first in Class B team event with 1965 to best Teal's Evergreens, 1957, and Kessler's, 1953.

Bern Schmitt and Rose Alperovitz combined forces to win the Class A doubles with a 972 tally, and Evelyn Skelenger and Rose Johnson teamed up to win the Class B doubles with 909.

Helen Nolden turned in high individual game of 229 and also high individual match of 571.

Leaders in each division follow:

Felch Squelches Powers, 43-23

Powers, Feb. 9—In an about face from their recent fine performance against Stephenson when they held the fast Eagles to a 38-36 victory, the Powers high school quintet dropped a 43-23 contest to Felch here last night.

And to make it complete, the Felch B team topped the Powers reserves in a 25-24 thriller.

Don and Dave Mattson and Krueger set a fast pace for the Felchmen, each dunking in five field goals. Powers was off on passing and shooting and couldn't get underway except for a brief spurt in the third period. Powers made only eight points in the first, second and fourth quarters. In the third canto, it rang up 15 points while holding Felch to six.

Nahma Community Bowling Lanes Open

Nahma, Feb. 9—C. F. Shafer has been elected president of the men's bowling league at the new Nahma Community building. Other officers are Shirley Warner, treasurer, and the Rev. Jerome Larsen, secretary.

The latter, however, has been transferred to St. Patrick's church, Escanaba, and his duties as secretary have been taken over by Shafer.

Men use the alleys Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights, and women bowl there Wednesday nights. Standings in the men's league to date are: Fur Farmers 7-1, Billy Goats 6-2, Cardinals 4-4, Arrows 4-4, Garden Corners 2-6 and Hot Shots 1-7. The Fur Farmers have high team match of 2551 and Billy Goats have high team game of 892. R. Bramer has high game of 238 and G. Turek has rolled a high match total of 608.

HARDWARES PLAY TONIGHT

Because the National Guard game tonight has been postponed (it's drill night), the Delta Hardware and Gladstone Legions will play their regular city league engagement tonight at 7 instead of Friday night. The Hardwares also are scheduled to play at Hermansville next Wednesday in a return game with the Silver Foxes.

JUNIOR HOCKEY

Escanaba junior hockey players will resume practice at the indoor rink, Bob Grabowski announced this morning. They will practice at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon and at 9 Saturday morning.

'Stique Five Tips Munising In 53-36 Tilt

Manistique, Feb. 9—The Manistique Emeralds ably demonstrated Tuesday evening that when pitted against a team whose members are of comparable height, they can go places and do things.

In their game with Munising, the Emeralds not only played well but rolled up their biggest score of the season—53 to 36.

The Mustangs got the jump on the locals at the start, but the advantage wasn't for long, and the quarter ended 12-10, in Manistique's favor. From then on the Emeralds forged steadily ahead. A big factor in the scoring was the ability of the locals to cash in on free throws. Very few opportunities to make good were missed.

Fulker and Tunteri played a consistent game for Munising, while Carlson, Patz and Hockstad shared honors for Manistique.

Bark River-Harris Socks Rock, 51-37

Rock, Feb. 9—Bark River-Harris turned the heat on in the second and fourth quarters last night to turn back a hard fighting Rock quintet in a Central U. P. D-E Basketball league game. The score was 51-37.

Bark River-Harris will play Rapid River at Bark River in another loop game Friday night. In the preliminary yesterday, Rock reserves won, 37-11.

It was Guard Nault and Jim Good who did most of the damage last night, Nault scoring the netting for nine field goals and high scoring honors and Good contributing a sizeable 15 counters. Bark River-Harris held a 24-19 lead at halftime.

Three-Car Accident Takes Lives Of Two West Branch Men

Pinconning, Mich., Feb. 9 (P)—State police sought an explanation today for a collision between two autos and a truck which took the lives of two West Branch men late Tuesday.

The victims were Oscar A. Fox, 31, and Harold W. Barrett, 32, of Route 1, who were both riding in Fox's car.

State Police Trooper Edsel Duball of the Bay City post, who was riding in his scout car behind the truck, said the Fox car was going south on US-23 when it suddenly veered across the three-lane highway. It sideswiped the oncoming auto of Alfred Eckert, 57, of Saginaw, manager of the Saginaw-Midland war pension fund. The Fox vehicle then skidded directly into the path of a light truck driven by Albert Tostie, 37, of (36 Benson St.) Ecorse.

The car was carried nearly 50 feet before Tostie could halt the truck, Duball said.

The auto did not overturn but was badly damaged and partially jammed into the truck body.

Duball used a hand extinguisher to put out the resultant fire in the car and directed rescue efforts but both men were dead when removed from the smouldering wreckage.

Yugoslav Territory Claims On Austria Backed By Russians

London, Feb. 9 (P)—Russia renewed support of Yugoslavia's territorial claims on Austria today, American sources reported, despite her quarrel with Yugoslav Premier-Marshall Tito.

Russia restated her view soon after the big four foreign ministers' deputies convened for a third try at writing the long-delayed Austrian peace treaty.

The conference had been hailed by western diplomats as a place for Russia to match her recent peace talk with hard action in settling Europe's problems.

East-West differences on Yugoslavia's claims for 800 square miles of southern Austria have been the principal stumbling block in nearly three years of negotiating for an Austrian treaty.

Rainy Day Reserve In Sales Tax Fund 'Approved By Senate

Lansing, Feb. 9 (P)—The Senate sought today to prepare the state for a rainy day — the day when sales tax collections fall below the amount which must be paid to schools as state aid.

The chamber passed 25 to 1 the Bates bill to lay aside 44.7 per cent of sales tax revenues in a separate fund so that the people and the legislature would have a correct picture of state finances.

The 44.7 per cent figure is the amount of sales tax collections in one year which must be paid to the schools in the following year under the sales tax diversion amendment.

Senator Blon L. Bates (R-Ovid), author of the bill, contended that the state now counts its sales tax collections as available funds, although actually it must spend 44.7 per cent of them in the following year for the school appropriation. That is just fooling the people, Bates argued.

When the day comes, Bates said, that the sales tax slumps, the state will not have the money to meet the school appropriation required by the constitution.

Measure Mapped For Labor Called Complete Failure

Steinkraus levelled particularly sharp criticism at a section of the bill which would deal with "national emergency" strikes by use of a cooling off procedure—but no court injunctions, in contrast to the Taft-Hartley section which lets the government get 80-day injunctions.

Steinkraus termed the administration plan "completely inadequate." He said strikes in such cases must be blocked "by giving the government adequate powers to this end."

The chamber suggested, "some refinement" of the Taft-Hartley national emergency section, but made no specific proposal. It urged writing into the administration bill:

1. A ban on all forms of compulsory unionism, such as the closed shop and the union shop. (Under the closed shop, employers can hire only union members. Under the union shop they can hire anyone but the workers must join the union within a specified period.)
2. A provision to keep the federal conciliation service independent. The administration bill would put it under the labor department.
3. A ban on mass picketing and violence by unions.

Steinkraus, president of the Bridgeport (Conn.) Brass Co., explained his position on those three points this way:

"If unions cannot recruit and hold members on their merits, they should not be allowed to force employees into membership.

"If I am unable to persuade a customer to buy my product, I am not allowed to sell it to him by compulsion. Why should any different rule apply to unions?"

Carpenter Accused In Torch Death Of His Wife At Mason

Lansing, Feb. 9 (P)—Victor Ver-cruyse, 42, Mason carpenter, faced examination on murder charges in the fire death of his wife here today.

He has been under police guard in the Mason county hospital recovering from burns received in the fire which caused the death of his wife, Selma, 40, last month.

Ver-cruyse, who maintains the fire was accidental, demanded examination when arraigned before Judge Robert Montgomery in justice court last month. He has steadfastly claimed his innocence in the death of his wife.

Prosecutor Charles R. MacLean issued the murder warrant on the basis of statements made by the fire victim before her death.

MacLean said the woman made a dying declaration that her husband threw gasoline on her and then set her clothing on fire. She told nurses and a Mason physician that her husband attempted to drag her back into the flames when she tried to escape, the prosecutor said.

Republicans Scoff At $800,000,000 Depression Threat

Washington, Feb. 9 (P)—Scoffing Republicans said today an economic expert's estimate that another depression might cost $800,000,000,000 was just designed to "make out a case for a managed economy" and more spending.

Leon Keyserling, vice chairman of the president's council of economic advisers, offered the figure. He was recalled for more testimony today before the Senate-House economic committee.

The $800,000,000,000, he said yesterday, might be the difference in national income in the next 10 years, depending on whether there is another "boom or bust" or a "stable rate of growth."

Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich.), a committee member, told a reporter: "I think he is making out a case for a managed economy."

"I think," said Rep. Herter (R-Mass.), "he is getting ready to argue for great public spending to avoid losing $800,000,000,000—spend billions to save billions."

Vatican Condemns Trial Of Primate In Budapest Court

Vatican City, Feb. 9 (P)—The Vatican made public today a letter from Pope Pius XII bitterly condemning the arrest of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty. It was announced at the same time the Pontiff will address a "secret and extraordinary consistory" here next Monday.

The letter was written to the Hungarian Bench of Bishops. It was dated Jan. 2, eight days after the Cardinal was arrested and before he was tried and sentenced to life imprisonment.

It exhorted Hungarian Catholics to have courage.

Informed Vatican sources said it was "virtually certain the Holy Father will speak on the trial of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty" at Monday's consistory.

Cardinal Mindszenty, primate of Hungary, was sentenced to life imprisonment yesterday by a Hungarian people's court which convicted him of treason, espionage and black market activities.

Chinese Civil War
May Remain Quiet
For Several Months

Nanking, Feb. 9 (P)—The Chinese war may stay quiet for many months.

Just why the cessation of hostilities is continuing can be answered only by the Communists in power north of the Yangtze River.

Few observers here expect acting President Li Tsung-Jen to arrange a national peace. Neither do they expect an attempt by the Communists to cross the Yangtze and drive southward by military force alone.

Admittedly the Reds have defeated Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist armies in the military phase of the war. Dispatches from Chiang's home town of Fenghua today quoted the generalissimo's close friends as saying he had retired definitely.

There is practically no organized resistance to the Communists north of the Yangtze and very little south of the river.

Communist Leader Mao Tze-Tung and his subordinates give every indication they are content to rest on their laurels for the time being. They are organizing the North China areas they hold.

Denmark To Follow Norway In Checkup On Atlantic Pact

By JOHN SCALI
Washington, Feb. 9 (P)—Denmark intends to follow Norway in looking into the terms for joining the Atlantic Defense Alliance, diplomatic officials reported today.

The Danish Ambassador, Henrik De Kauffman, was reported primed to go to the state department to submit his country's questions as soon as Secretary Acheson gives him an appointment.

De Kauffman's visit would mark the first time the Danish government has shown any official interest in the possibility of linking its defenses with the American-sponsored security pact.

In the past, the Danish government has supported Sweden's idea that the three Scandinavian countries (Sweden, Norway and Denmark) should form an alliance of their own based on neutrality. This arrangement would have been separate from the defense alliance being negotiated by the United States, Canada, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Leaders of home economics clubs in Delta county will meet in training sessions to be held Thursday and Friday, it was announced today by J. L. Heirman, county agricultural agent.

The Thursday meeting at Garden will be for club leaders in the eastern section of the county, and the meeting Friday in Escanaba will be at the home of Mrs. Carl Wicklund, 911 South 10th street, for leaders of the western half of the county.

Miss Victoria Brust of Marquette, home demonstration agent, will conduct the lesson on casserole dinner menus.

Goalie Specacular In California Puck Win Over Mich. Tech

Houghton, Mich., Feb. 9 (P)—University of California goalie Ian Watson turned in his second spectacular performance in two nights last night as the Bears defeated Michigan Tech 5-3 in a hockey game.

Watson made 50 stops to add to the 66 he made in Monday's opener of the two-game series.

Tech led 2-1 at the end of the first period, but the Bears put over three goals in the second to tack away the game.

Each team scored once in the final period.

The victory gave California a series split. Tech won the opener 6-4.

HOSPITAL JOB TO BEGIN SOON

Lloyd Project Slated
For March 15

Menominee, Mich. — Construction will start next month on Menominee's Marshall B. Lloyd Clinic addition to St. Joseph's hospital, which will make Menominee hospital facilities better than any hospital its size north of Milwaukee and Madison, Dr. W. S. Jones, vice-chairman of the Lloyd Fund board of trustees told members of Menominee Lions and Rotary clubs yesterday.

"We are at the realization of a 15-year-old dream," Dr. Jones said. "When this building is completed in 540 days from the start of construction on March 15, it will be one of the finest equipped hospitals of its size anywhere. We are indeed a fortunate community."

Dr. Jones and Harry Gielsteen, Menominee architect who drew building plans, outlined plans for the building and explained in detail location of rooms, offices, etc.

Outlining the history of the building, Dr. Jones told Lions and Rotarians that in 1937 trustees were unable to borrow enough money on the Fund's Heywood-Wakefield stock to finance a $120,000 building, yet today construction is ready to start on a $785,913 project financed out of the same 19,500 shares of Heywood-Wakefield stock plus a U. S. government hospital grant of $261,971.

Demaret Sees No Is No Shoo-in Winner

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 9 (P)—Limmie Demaret apparently doesn't agree with the experts that he's practically a shoo-in winner of the $10,000 Texas Open which begins tomorrow.

The singing Texan who calls Ojai, Calif., home has joined hundreds of other golfers in their careful warm-ups. Temperatures in the 70's brought out scores of practicing hopefuls yesterday.

Half the field will play at one course tomorrow while the other half tours the other.
